SPECIAL ISSUE

THE AVANT-GARDE AND THE LANDSCAPE: CAN THEY BE RECONCILED?

This issue was edited at the Department of Landscape Architecture, University of Illinois-Urbana Champaign, and the Department of Landscape Architecture, University of Minnesota. Funding for the conference, The Avant-Garde and the Landscape: Can They Be Reconciled?, was made possible through grants by the Minnesota Humanities Commission, David and Penny Winton, John and Sage Cowles; and through the facilities and staff of the Professional Development Conference Service, the Department of Landscape Architecture, and the College of Architecture and Landscape Architecture, University of Minnesota.

Guest Editors

The Guest Editors would like to thank Susan Rademacher Frey and Brenda Brown for their contributions to this publication.

The Avant-Garde and the Landscape: Can They Be Reconciled? A book from Landworks Press, of the same title, contains the complete papers presented at the April, 1988 conference at the University of Minnesota. This special issue of Landscape Journal represents a selected, refereed, revised, and edited version of articles from that conference.
